

Dale and his team perform for Hermanus Hospice and Tourism

Dale Elliott gave an interesting demonstration to loud music on Saturday at the Overberg Municipal Media Centre to a crowd of about a hundred plus spectators.

His choice of music was Andre Rieu, 'Live in Dublin' and he had the audience encapsulated for about half an hour as he smeared and scratched into the thickly painted art work.

He chose a modern Overberg landscape theme and it tied in nicely with the theme which Hermanus Hospice and Tourism were trying to promote.

Dale and his team then conducted an art auction in the auditorium later on that evening where there were about forty 'lots' by well known artists on display which were up for bidding. Dale gave the crowd a very entertaining auction and the pieces of art brought in well over R100 000.00.

One of the most interesting art pieces was a collage of 21 paintings specifically done by different local artists, for the Hermanus Tourism Week, which made up one massive painting when pieced together.

Congratulations must be handed to the Hermanus Hospice Team and the Tourism Bureau for all their efforts in putting this fine event together.
